

RITE AID CORONAVIRUS RESPONSE

Rite Aid takes the health and safety of our associates and customers very serious. This situation continues to evolve and we are working to collect the most relevant information to provide to our associates. Very soon, we will be providing updated information that includes CDC recommendations and other best practices for prevention of spreading this or any other virus, i.e. the flu. We are also ensuring that our stores are well stocked with the shopping cart disinfectant wipes and hand sanitizer. Additionally, we are reinforcing our cleaning and sanitizing standards in all stores, and providing guidance for our managers on how to react to situations that could arise.
